Wow...What an awesome summer!

These crazy times and warmer temperatures have still found most of us working and spending more time at home. "At home time" means our heating and cooling systems have been working overtime and we all know what that means...a dirtier HVAC system, requiring service.

As we watch the leaves begin to change and the sun setting earlier, we all know that now is the best time to service that furnace to help ensure a trouble free winter.

So please, don't wait until that first cold snap, only to learn the furnace won't come on.

As a reminder, we also install HEPA filters and ultraviolet lights, which help kill off some of the airborne germs, that may be around. These are the same type of filters used in hospitals.

If you have a gas fireplace and perhaps it's glass is looking a little foggy, remember, we also service and install gas fireplaces. You may as well enjoy that fireplace's warmth and ambiance in that long cold winter ahead.
