Spring seems to be coming in a hurry this year, just as Covid is becoming more manageable... thank goodness! With that being said, after a long winter, our technicians are looking forward to getting back outside and servicing air conditioners.

The new degree of comfort.™

We have been lucky and managed to get through the winter without having any major equipment shortages, but we did see some long term part shortages... thankfully not on any furnaces we have installed. Our major supplier, Rheem was very good at keeping us supplied with parts.

This makes for a good reason to have your air conditioner serviced early, just to ensure you're ready for those hot summer days. As of now, we do foresee shortages on pool heaters and fireplace parts.

To ensure you stay cool on those hot summer days, please give us a call and set up your air conditioner spring service appointment as soon as possible.

Remember, we also service pool heaters and gas fireplaces.
